

Diploma in Packaging Technology Testimonials

“The Diploma programme at Loughry College, Northern Ireland has an excellent learning structure, both in the lecture classes and the later revision sessions. The plant visits to different packaging manufacturers and users are also very beneficial and informative. It's good to get out and see the theory behind the lectures being applied in practical situations.”

Niall Stewart: Designer; Smurfit Corrugated Cases

“The course was very comprehensive and covered a wide range of packaging areas. A lot of the information has been applicable within my work place and I would definitely recommend the course to others. I was delighted to win the award for the highest exam marks worldwide and I owe much of my success to the delivery methods of the staff at Loughry College.”

Karen Lynch: New Product Development Manager; Wilson's Country

“I personally feel the Diploma course was very rewarding and gave me excellent networking opportunities. The plant visits and lectures were well organised, presented with real professionalism and efficiency. Heinz as a company have found the course to be very rewarding and plan on sending further employees to attend. Participation is encouraged at all stages, which is hugely beneficial to all students due to individual expertise.”

John Ryan: Purchasing Manager; Heinz

“This is an excellent course covering all aspects of packaging. It was carefully planned and highly relevant to my work within the food industry.”

Alistar Farmer: Packaging Technologist; Moy Park
